² Many government agencies, trade associations, standard-setting bodies, and other groups will provide relevant externship experiences. For example, students have worked for the Computer and Communications Industry Association; the New York Attorney General’s Office, Internet Division; and the NYC Department of Information Technology and Telecommunications; the Dramatists’ Guild; many entertainment industry companies (e.g., SONY, MTV). Other relevant externships in business organizations, media outlets, watchdog groups, government offices, nonprofit organizations, and other settings may satisfy this requirement.

³ Two-semester clinics count as two skills courses.
