

BROOKLYN LAW SCHOOL

NOTICE OF NONDISCRIMINATION AND EQUAL OPPORTUNITY

Brooklyn Law School does not discriminate in any education program or activity that it operates or in the recruitment, hiring, promotion, transfer, demotion, layoff, recall, termination, compensation, and selection for training among employees on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, pregnancy or related conditions, national origin, age, sexual orientation, gender status, marital status, genetic information, disability, veteran status, or any other legally protected status under federal, state, or local law.

The Law School will base employment decisions on legitimate job requirements and admissions decisions on legitimate academic considerations. It will also take measures, as permitted by law, to ensure that all employment actions and admission processes provide equal opportunity for all persons regardless of membership in a legally protected class.

Additionally, retaliation, including intimidation, threats, or coercion, because an employee, student, or applicant has objected to discrimination; engaged or may engage in filing a discrimination complaint; assisted in a review, investigation, or hearing regarding discrimination; or has sought to assert legal rights under federal, state, or local EEO law, is prohibited.

If you feel you have been subjected to discrimination based on a legally protected status, you may file a complaint with:
